Foreword

WE, the editors of the 1952 Rosette, hope that we will present a yearbook that is interesting and that paints a vivid picture of life here at Roseville High in the minds of our patrons.

We know that a school gets its name by the way the students act at extra-curricular activities and even at school every day. We want to give the public the best possible impression of ourselves. In the present, as in the past, Roseville has had a very good name in all of its school activities. We want to help the school to maintain its high standards.

There are many of the parents who are unable to attend the activities of the school. They can only judge us from what they hear and read. We hope that by publishing this book, they will be more informed as to how our activities and our school day goes. By this book we hope that they can picture our school more highly in their minds.

With the publication of the fifteenth edition of the Rosette, we wish to thank all of our patrons, our faculty, and all of the students who helped make its publication possible.

Dedication

We, the class of 1952, wish to dedicate this year's Rosette to our parents and to all of the others who take such an avid interest in our school. We know that without their staunch support many of our extra-curricular activities would be impossible.

Do these activities serve a useful purpose in our modern, streamlined school system? Most educational experts agree that they do. An interest in the many clubs and projects lends variety to the standard courses offered in our high schools. The student also tends to develop responsibility, initiative, and a broader aspect of school life. This more than overcomes the feeble argument that such activities "Keep the children from their studies."

The past few years have seen a great change wrought in our school system. American parents are yearly becoming more education-minded. For example, toy manufacturers now stress the constructive values of their products. Toys are designed to be "educational and instructive", or to build "character or coordination".

The great increase in the students extra-curricular activities is another result of the parents' desire for a more thorough education.

Interested parents are the backbone of our school activities. Some of our most ardent backers have no children in our school. Many others are present at football and basketball games even if Junior is not on the team. We have chosen a group of ideal parents which, we feel, best represent a cross section of our school's backers. They are (from left to right): 1st row—Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Heckel, Mrs. Good, Mrs. Caughey, and Mrs. Way. 2nd row—Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Heckel, Mr. Sowers, Mr. Caughey, and Mr. Way. Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Laughlin, and Mr. Ditter were not present at the time this photograph was taken. To our ideal parents we humbly dedicate this book, in the hope that they will realize our deep appreciation of their support.

Class History

by JOHANNA HECKEL

M. Folden, N. Williams, B. Skinner, J. Owens

Today we are Seniors, ready to graduate. These four years at R. H. S. have been full of many memories. Remember! How excited and thrilled we were on our first day in high school? That year there were 83 of us. Our advisors were: Mr. LoPresti, Mrs. Ramsey, and Mr. Curl. We elected Robert Gamble, President; Nellie Mae Rider, Vice-President; Nancy Williams, Sec'y-Treasurer; and Barbara Ditter and Ruth Roberts, Representatives. We chose blue and white for class colors. Our big events were a hayside and a wiener roast.

Seventy-two of us returned for our sophomore year to find Mr. Russell and Mr. LoPresti there to direct us. We chose Jerry Owens, President; Nancy Williams, Vice-President; Johanna Heckel, Secretary, and Barbara Ditter Treasurer. Nancy Williams was homecoming attendant.

As Juniors what a bustle there was when we entered Miss Clark's and Mrs. Leaders' room! For all sixty-five of us, there was never a dull moment. Jerry Owens was chosen President; Johanna Heckel, Vice-President; Barbara Skinner, Secretary, and Nancy Williams, Treasurer. Johanna Heckel was homecoming attendant.

We chose a dachshund for mascot, which was properly christened "Hot Dog". He, along with our blue and white pennant, watched us through our "money making" schemes. Remember the class play and the magazine sale?

Last fall, when we assembled as seniors, we found that our number stood at fifty-six. Jerry Owens was again chosen President; Marvin Folden, Vice-President; Barbara Skinner, Secretary, and Nancy Williams, Treasurer. Mr. White and Mr. Wolfe were our leaders for this year. We tried such "money-making" schemes as selling Christmas cards, a scrap iron drive, and sponsoring a dance.

Being seniors, we had the usual things to discuss — pictures, caps and gowns, and the class trip.

Nancy Williams was chosen as Homecoming Queen with Eileen Swingle as senior attendant.

As we close the pages on this phase of our lives, we hope that you will have as many memories as we have had.

Class Prophecy

Having just arrived home from our trip to visit the Emperor of China, we decided to have a party for our classmates. We are staying in the "Russell Hotel", owned by the big hotel tycoon, Vernon Russell.

After renting his ballroom, which is called "The Slippery Slide", we sent out invitations to the members of the graduating class of 1952. We employed Glenna Meadows to write the invitations and Bill Wheeler to deliver them. Mr. Russell came to our aid by lending us his orchestra, "Gamble's Scramble", led by Bob Gamble, whose star vocalist is none other than that North American bombshell, Twila "Scream It" Sagle! This was all we had to do for the party because of two old friends, Irene Thompson, the hotel's hostess, and Harvey Patterson, the caterer.

Finally the big night descends upon us. Going into the ballroom, we discover that several guests have arrived before us and are enjoying themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cox, she is the former Nellie Rider, are dancing to a slow waltz with their five children trailing along behind them singing "Pop Goes the Weasel". Mrs. Donald Smith, the Naomi Duff, and Mrs. Kenneth Eveland, the former Ruth Whetstone, and their husbands are standing in the middle of the floor discussing baby formulas and the latest methods on how to train your kids.

Over in the corner we see a small group gathered. They seem very amused. Taking a second look we see they are Mary Jane Shaw, the famous driving instructor; Tom Flemming, tree sawbones; Johanna Heckel, owner of a herd of prize-winning hereford cattle, which she grazes in the streets of Roseville; David Horn, the school teacher; Marvin Sower, owner of the biggest chain of grocery stores in the country; and the pineapple grove owner, Mary Ann Evans. Going closer we see why they are so amused. Booty Hanning, the well-known monkey trainer, and her star monkey, Sue Allen, are going through some of their antics.

Suddenly the orchestra strikes up a fanfare and in walks some of the most noted athletes in the country. They are: "Mighty" Marvin "Atomic" Folden, the world's champion heavyweight wrestler; Rich "Tiny" Spring, famous midget wrestler; James Maxwell, heavywreight boxer; James Hammers, highest paid baseball star in the leagues (his team hasn't won a game since Jim was hired); David Inman, star football player at Ohio U.; and the all-American basketball center, Harold Lantz.

All at once the orchestra hits a very sour note announcing the arrival of the President of the U. S., the Honorable Jerry F. Owens. He is accompanied by a group of White House dignitaries, his personal private secretary, Barbara Skinner—she is wearing a new mink coat; the personal private secretary's secretary, Dorthy Dickson. Next comes the red-hot Republican Congresswoman, the lady farmer, Lois Ann Moody, and her secretary, Mary Ann Hansen, trying her best to sell some of the produce from Moody's Farm. Following them is the personal lawyer of the President, John Mautz, and his secretary, Barbara Ditter. Bringing up the rear is the secretary of the whole cabootle, Eileen Swingle.

The guests have about all arrived but we still have a few stragglers coming. There is Ruth Roberts. We hear by means of a grapevine, that she's happily married to a preacher; Lora Luckett, the renowned circus performer; Betty Weaver, a nurse in a dentist office; Molly Brumage, a WAC; Barbara Nebinger, an army nurse in the Air Corps; and squiring them is the cement plant owner, Jack Lambert.

The two old show-offs are displaying their trades. They are none other than Earl Bruce, the elephant hunter, carrying a tusk; and Hanley, the Klondike bear hunter from Alaska, wearing a bear skin. After them comes the Wyoming ranch owner, Nancy Carrell; Mary Belle Launder, who operates a poultry farm; and the fabulous New York spittoon cleaner dressed to the hilt, Ronald Murgatroyd.

With their arrival the entertainment begins. First on the program comes Martha Luckett, who has taken Carmen Miranda's place. Robert Brumage, the Hollywood Lover Idol, takes the spot light next. Last but least, Pat Patch, the famous orator, delivers a speech on "How To Hold Your Man". She is interrupted every few minutes by a young lady who crawls out from under the curtain yelling, "Are there any eligible young men in the joint?" We discover she is Myrna Moody who is still hoping to be married soon.

All at once we hear a great disturbance in one of the back rooms of the hotel. Upon investigating we discover a fast poker game is being conducted. Drawing closer we find that they are our old friends, Bob Laughlin, Joe Miller, Roger Sowers, and Larry Neff.

Here comes somebody who obviously believes in "Better late than never", Bob Ball. Bob had a very good excuse, it takes quite some time for Dixie and him to get all twelve kids ready at the same time.

Finding that all the class of '52 is present, the owner of the Stork Club, Rebecca Ferguson, invites us to the club. Carroll Moore, the truck driving tycoon offers us his trucks for transportation from the "Slippery-Slide" to the Stork Club. Although everyone is a little tired, we are sure that everyone enjoyed the party at the "Russell Hotel" in 1975.

Class Will

We, the 1952 Senior Class of Roseville High School, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath the following as our last will and testament:

To Mr. Regula we leave the class of "53", hoping they will co-operate with him better than we did.

To Mr. Buck we leave all of our phony excuses and unserved detentions.

To the Faculty we leave our beat up, engraved books; so that they will not forget us.

To the Juniors we leave our ability to get pep talks every day.

To the Sophomores we leave the joy of being Miss Clark's prize class for a year as we were.

To the Freshmen we leave the joy of having three more years of high school.

To Mr. King we leave, hoping the classes following us will be as considerate to him as we were.

To Donna, the sec'y, we leave the hope that the next senior class won't pester her as much as we did.

I, Larry Neff, will my ability to skip English and not get caught to Doug Kinnan.

I, James Maxwell, will my excess weight to Marlene Carson; she needs it more than I do.

I, James Hammers, will my bookkeeping workbook to anyone fool enough to take it.

I, Robert Wheeler, will my physics book to anyone crazy enough to take it.

I, Tom Fleming, will my ability to talk in study hall to Janet Neff.

I, David Horn, will my ability to tease the teachers to Joe Ridenour.

I, Hanley Hardin, will to Mr. Wolfe all of Gallia county.

I, John Mautz, will my ability to tear up dad's car to Tom Williams.

We, Jerry Owens and Vernon Russell, just leave; isn't that enough?

I, Barbara Skinner, will my ability to get a boyish hair cut to Joan Brumage. I think it would be becoming.

I, Mary Ann Hansen, will a "Speed Queen" typewriter to Mrs. Leaders with a guarantee that it will type better than the one I typed on the last two years.

I, Twila Sagle, will the title of "sweater girl" to Merlyn Elson in hopes that she will be able to fill it as well as I did.

I, Bob Laughlin, will my economics book and the ability to tease Russell to Gene Shipley.

I, Lois Moody, will my love for dancing to Kay Savage. Let's see how many boys you can teach to dance.

I, Ronnie Murgatroyd, will my Buck Shot to Bruce Blair who is always half shot.

I, Patty Patch, will my big feet to Dean White, that they might be useful to him in the future.

I, Nancy Carrell, will my curly hair to June Dickerson.

I, Mary Launder, will my interest in boys to Phyllis Adams.

I, Bob Brumage, will my ability to drive to Larry Karns in hopes that he will do better than I did.

I, Molly Brumage, will my height to Delores Swingle in hopes that she has better luck growing than I had shrinking.

I, Paula Cannon, leave my paddle to Bob Russell, in hopes that he can get as many swats with it as I did.

I, Myrna Moody, will my majorette uniform to the new majorette.

I, Barbara Nebinger, will my trumpet to Karen Aiken in hopes that she can go further than I did.

I, Barbara Ditter, will my solo clarinet to Madonna Wilson, in hopes that she will enjoy it as much as I did.

I, Naomi Duff, will my typing book to Marvis Thomson in hopes that she does not make as many mistakes as I did.

I, Nancy Williams, leave my little brown dues book and a club for beating kids over the head to make them pay their dues, as I've had to do for three years, to next year's Senior Class Treasurer.

I, David Inman, will the car I learned to drive on to Ronald Chrisley hoping he doesn't tear off as many fenders as I did.

I, Booty Hanning, will my bright orange tights to Camille Staley and Clara Ann Savage. Now, girls, don't fight over them; there's plenty of room for both of you.

I, Johanna Heckel, being the only girl in physics class, will my ability to hold my own to any girl that takes physics.
I, Jackie Lambert, will my ability to go to Zanesville every night to Bill Evans in hopes that the roads are always good, and that he has as good luck as I did.
I, Nellie Mae Rider, will my ability of talking in study hall to Alan Combs, in hopes he doesn't get caught as much as I did.
I, Marvin Sowers, will to Gene Probasco "Big Eva", in hopes that he can control his blood-thirsty emotions as I did.
I, Marvin Folden, will my camera to Pat Crowley and hope that he can find more interesting things to take pictures of than I did.
I, Betty Weaver, will my ability to drive the car in the garage, without taking the fenders or the garage doors off, to anyone who keeps their fingers crossed while driving into the garage.
I, Carrol Moore, will my ability to take the homecoming queen to the dance after the game to David Laughlin.
I, Dorothy Dickson, will my shorthand book to Kathryn Williams in hopes she can do better than I did.
I, Rebecca Ferguson, will my talking to Edith Launder, in hopes that she can do as much as I have.
I, Mary Jane Shaw, leave to Sue Watt, my ability to own my own car, and also the hopes that she can keep her's longer than I did mine.
I, Eileen Swingle, will my ability to get 60 words a minute for 10 minutes with no errors to Jeannine Moore.
I, Mary Ann Evans, will my bashfulness to Sue Woods and hope that she fills it as well as I have.
I, Lora Jane Lucket, will my ability to stand on the floor in "Red" Smith's study hall to Jr. Rogers in hopes that he enjoys it as much as I have.
I, Sue Allen, will my neck brace to anyone in Miss Basnett's tumbling class who is dumb enough to try to turn backwards as I did.
I, Ruth Whetstone, will my presidency of F.H. A. to next year's president in hopes that she will control them better than I did.
I, Bob Gamble, will my manly build to Larry Lenhart.
I, Richard Spring, will my size 14 shoes to Truman Stoneburner.
I, Earl Bruce, will my ability to charm girls to Loren Carr.
I, Bob Ball, will my ability to tackle (men or women) to Charles Cassady.
I, Harvey Patterson, will my ability to play basketball to David Laughlin.
I, Harold Lantz, will my basketball socks to Kenny Bagent.
We, Joe Miller, and Roger Sowers, will our ability to get along with Mr. Regula and Mr. Buck, to Gene Shipley and Larry Fleming.
I, Glenna Meadows, will my stationery to any girl that has a boyfriend in the service.
I, Ruth Roberts, will my job of playing the piano for everything that comes along, along with a bag of patience to Charles Rognon. Believe me Charles, you'll need the patience!

OPERATION EDUCATION

"Knowledge is the main element of progress!" The early American realized that educated citizens were more capable of constructing and retaining a foothold in this vast world than illiterate multitudes of people were. With this in mind, the American Public School System was established. This agency functions to instruct us during the youthful years of our existence, and it has proved so flexible that it has adjusted itself to the expanding scope of progression in our nation.

As our System stands today, it usually is separated into three major divisions. The first of these is the elementary school. While attending elementary school, we receive the basic "skills", which compose the framework for a well-rounded education. The second division, which is the Junior High School, is a testing period in which we locate ourselves and choose the fields of knowledge which are the best satisfying to our aptitudes and concerns. The final division of the System is the high school. High School presents to us a much wider curriculum in which we find subjects which appeal to our vocational desires. After obtaining this knowledge in the public school, we should be able to employ it to perform our part in the world better.

I, myself, think that the American Public School System is superior to all other education methods on this spherical world because of the generous and identical opportunities it bestows upon us. Economically it sets forth a program to train us for a desired profession; so that we may have a bright and prosperous life. Socially education tends to combine the people. This unity is developed not only in our neighborhoods and states, but also in our nations. We have anticipated for many years an eternal world unity. If the occurrence of a world unity would take place, there would be peace—"an everlasting peace!"

I recognize wisdom as a trail leading to further developments and therefore appreciate an education greatly. Progression is a very important and potential factor in the situation of the world today. A slogan which fits the ideals of the American Public School System and which would be a good one for our nation as well as each individual to follow is: "Build today and be strong tomorrow!"

—Jerry Owens

Salutatory

THIS IS OUR DAY

Board of Education, parents, faculty, and friends: We, the graduation class of 1952, sincerely welcome you to our commencement exercises. Tonight we are grateful for your presence, which shows your interest in us. By providing educational facilities for us, you have given us great opportunities and incentives.

This is our day! For the past years we have been looking forward to and planning for this occasion, which climaxes twelve of the most important years of our lives. During the past weeks we have been enjoying the limelight of graduation and have been honored by our schoolmates, parents, and friends.

There have been times when it seemed as if we'd never reach this goal; but success was with us and now at our graduation, feel that we have much to show for our efforts.

We have been taught by experience the desirability of friendship and cooperation. To succeed without these two factors would be practically impossible. The principles of proper living, which we have formed, we now search for in our friends. Many of these friendships will last forever. We, are not expected to become close friends with everyone, but at least we must practice cooperation among ourselves. Cooperation between students and faculty has made it possible for us to complete these past years in the graduating performance that we are experiencing tonight.

In another sense too, this is our day! During our school years we have been dependent on others to plan our time for us, but now we must sever these ties and face the future on our own responsibility. Thanks to the sympathetic guidance of experienced people, we are better equipped to take our places and to move steadily forward. Some of us may go into business or industry, while others attend college or become members of the armed forces. But whatever we do, we must never stop progressing. We have learned that we can never remain still, but either we must move forward or slide backward. Our world is changing rapidly and we must adjust ourselves to meet these advancements. This can be accomplished only with open ears, eyes, and an unprejudiced mind.

Certainly, we all agree that one of America's greatest needs today is her need for thinking, trustworthy individuals. And since our country offers so many opportunities to us, we have the responsibility of becoming good citizens. Too many people are taken in by false ideals and teachings because they are too busy to do a little thinking for themselves.

We are now challenged as never before to make a return for the opportunities which you have given us. It is our responsibility to make this day, which is also the foundation for tomorrow, a most successful one. This is our day, and we thank you for it.

—JOHANNA HECKEL

Class Poem

The clock of life has shown its time,
To end our school days, your's, and mine,
The hands have rounded, ticked, and passed,
Each hour that's brought its end at last.

The year we started as freshmen few,
The next and next went swiftly too.
But came our last, which drew the end,
And gave the que for life's descend.

Our start is finished, our finish but started,
And from our prime, we've all departed.
But as we leave with memories dear
We'll carry thoughts of our high school here.

Along Life's path we hope to meet,
And each and every face to greet.
Our future's bright with prospects many,
And we'll pass few of these, if any.

Junior Class History

by

Paula Maxwell and Dick Adams

On September 6, 1949, we started out with seventy-four pupils. Mr. Curl and Miss Ransbottom were our supervisors. Class officers were: Persident, Paula Maxwell; Vice-President, Charles Cassidy; Sec'y-Treasurer, Carl Taylor. We managed to live through initiation. We had a hay-wagon ride and a wiener roast, and later we had a pot luck in the Home Economics room. Paula Maxwell was our attendant for Homecoming.

We started out another year of school as sophomores. We chose our officers as follows: President, Bill Good; Vice-President, Gene Probasco; Secretary, Ronald Christley; and Treasurer, Bill Evans. We looked forward to getting our measurements for our class rings. For activity we had a hay-wagon ride and square dance at Lake Isabelle. Dave Laughlin won a medal in the district contest for the Prince of Peace. Bill Evans, Ronald Christley, Paula Maxwell, Mary Jane Ridenour, and Meris Drake took part in the "I Speak For Democracy" contest. We were guided through that year by Mr. Russell and Mrs. Kerchner. Our attendant for Homecoming was Kay Savage.

We started our Junior year under the watchful eyes of Miss Clark and Mrs. Leaders. As usual we elected our class officers: President, Ronald Christley; Vice-President, Bill Good; Treasurer, Bill Evans, and Secretary, Shirley Barker. We were still represented in the athletic field. It was a long grind, but we finally received our class rings. Our Junior Variety Show was a big success. We are looking forward to our Junior Class Play and the Prom. We had a hay-ride and wiener roast for our main activity. Our attendant this year was Mary Axline. We hope that next year we will all be seniors.

Sophomore Class History

by

Mary Baker and Pat Crowley

As we look back over our past two years of high school, we find we have many happy and exciting memories.

In September, 1951, the pleasure of being instructors of eighty-one Freshmen was bestowed upon Miss Ransbottom and Mr. Curl. We were in dead fear of initiation and were very glad when it was over. We chose as our temporary class colors to be red and white. During our first few days of school, we elected our class officers: Madonna Wilson, President; Bud Spring, Vice-President; Phyllis Adams, Treasurer; and Laura Cassady, Assistant-Treasurer. Also, we were proud to have as our Homecoming attend Phyllis Adams escorted by Jim Derr. Our highlights for the year were a pot luck and a wiener roast.

With a loss of seven we entered the Sophomore Home Room under the direction of Mrs. Kerchner and Mr. Russell. Our class officers were chosen as follows: Bill Stuck, President; Larry Bishop, Vice-President; Phyllis Adams, Secretary; and Bud Spring, Treasurer.

This year we were proud to have as our Homecoming attendant Jane Browning escorted by Jim Derr.

There were a lot of activities in which we participated. Some of them were: band, chorus, football, basketball, and Prince of Peace contest in which Mildred Dozer received second place. And a great big assembly that was a success. It was presented by the whole class on the order of a television show. And, of course, we ordered our class rings.

The teachers also kept us busy with detentions and studying for scholarship tests, Every Pupil Tests, and Semester Tests.

We leave you now as Sophomores with a lot of happy memories, and we are eagerly looking forward to being Juniors next year.

Freshmen Class History

by

Jane Wickham and

Charles Rognon

It was an exciting day for the sixty-seven freshmen who walked into the halls of Roseville High School in September. Each was thinking about the things he was to do.

We were all anxious to meet our teachers; and we found that the two we would see the most were Miss Nancy Ransbottom and Mr. Bill Curl, our home room teachers.

After two weeks, we freshmen elected our very capable and efficient class officers. They are as follows: President, Carl Huston; Vice President, Shirley Gilmore; Treasurer, Larry Mock; and Ass't Treasurer, Marlene Wolfe.

We had our wiener roast in October behind the school building. It was a great success. We all played spin the milk bottle.

The cheerleaders, who, along with the Varsity, cheered the team on to victory, are Varsity, Shirley Savage and Reserve, Kay Eveland.

We survived initiation and found it wasn't as bad as we thought it would be. It even proved fun for everyone.

Mary Jane Veno was elected as our attendant to the queen at the Homecoming Game. Mary Jane, all decked out in red, rode in the car which won the first prize, decorated by the freshmen class.

We were all busy as bees on November 7th, as we were getting ready for open house. Everyone made posters for the open house. There were groups of 5 to 8 pupils with a chairman for each group. Each pupil gave his own idea on prose and poetry, submitted by class. Then the group clarified their titles from the best ideas.

Now as this brings our history up to date, we are settled, well organized, and look back over the times we have spent as Freshmen.
